AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS

The Nicker Mower exhibited by Mr Thomas, is worthy of merit and committee recommend it to the attention of our farmers.

The Tiger Rake exhibited by Bartlett & Hardy in the opinion of the committee is a No 1 rake, also the Reversible Plow exhibited by the same parties.

The Wairds Plow with plain or attached exhibited by D. M. Dunham has advantages over other plows.

The Steel Tooth Cultivator Harrow exhibited by B. C. Wing does excellent work, and is an improvement on the old spike tooth cultivators.

J. F. Shaw, the best plow Sulky, also the Season a Chilled plow, with planer attached, also Attwood's Clipper Steel plow, also Reversible plow.

The Seed Sower, exhibited by Mr Bazzell is a very useful article and well worth the price asked for it.

Lewis Barrows exhibited a very nice pump.

D. M. Dunham the cucumber wood porcelain lined pump, the lining, we think an improvement.

Mr Clark of Plymouth exhibited a Plow Sulky which does very good work and we recommend the farmers to give it a trial.

The Manure Spreader, exhibited by Thomas Chase won praise from all who saw it work as a labor saving machine, and for thorough work we recommend it to the farmers.

The model of a Horse Pitch Fork exhibited by Hardy & Bartlett its cheapness and simpleness in construction recommends it to the attention of farmers.

MISCELLANEOUS

Mc Cloy's Cabinet Creamery exhibited by W. A. Bartlett, Refrigerator and creamery combined. Labor saving by doing away with pails. Mr B. also exhibits a soldered revolving and hand churn said to be all he could churn.

Mrs. Charles Willey exhibits a fine specimen of eggs consisting of 30 laid by three pullets incubating 27, hot oven and hand some.

Mrs. R. W. Murch 1 loaf of raised bread from Lost Nation Wheat, very fine 1st premium.

Mrs. W. T. Eldridge 1 loaf of raised bread from Maine raised wheat, good.

Charles D. Crance exhibits 2 specimens of Oriental ware odd and attractive. A vase or jar and an umbrella jand cane stand of his own manufacture, beautifully decorated with Oriental pictures. It showed skill and taste on the part of the manufacturer and added greatly to the interest of the exhibition we recommend a diploma.

Mr. L. C. Snow, of Bangor exhibits one very attractive parcel of foal lonable garments for misses and children cut and made to order, cloths of different kinds trimmings and shirtings.

Mr. A. L. Bourne of Bangor exhibits the Davis sewing machine. This machine is said to be adapted to a larger variety of work done in a given time than any other machine. The chief point of excellence in this machine is its vertical feed thus adapting it to the coarse as well as the fine work, another point is that it does away with basting.

Dudley & Co., Bangor, have on exhibition the Domestic sewing machine. This is a modern machine, strong, and said to do all kinds of family work in a superior manner, and without trouble or any breaking down. One very important point in this machine is that any mechanic can repair it when out of order.

Mr H. H. Wheeler, of Etna has an exhibition Lyon's Adjustable Fruit and Vegetable Evaporator, for family use. The fruit is dried by steam and thus cured is equal to green fruit. The inventor expects no monopoly, and every family can use it in preparing fruit for home consumption or for market, highly recommend.

In musical instruments L. J. Wheelden shows an organ from the company of Lang & Blake, also one from the manufactory of B. Shanenger; the last has the bell attachment, and folding pedals. He exhibits an orguinette from J. McTamany, this is a modern instrument and attracts a great deal of attention, it is quite a curiosity in the line of music, and quite a mystery how the machine can turn so good music out of perforated paper.

A. M. Devereaux also exhibits a Wilcox & White organ, and an upright piano from the manufactory of Chickering & Son, Boston.

A cage of Guinea pigs consisting of seven—parents and five offspring—attracts a great deal of attention, especially among the little folks. The young are of pretty little creatures and make quite an addition to the exhibition.

W. M. Barrows shows a splendid harness made from oak tanned uncolored leather, tastefully trimmed and gold mounted, and has all the indications of a strong and durable harness, we recommend a diploma.

A chair which may have been used by some of our great, great, great grandfathers and mothers, decorated the western end of one of the centre tables, and looked very tempting to the tired people. It is almost an article of antiquity, going back into the past 120 years. It has recently been upholstered in simple style quite in harmony with its age.

Mrs Trisilcum Gilding placed a platter of pansies on the end of one table beautifully arranged and decorated around the edge with moss-curled parsley.

A fine brass wire cage ornamented with flowers, containing a Cardinal bird, exhibited by Miss Della Hopkins, occupied a conspicuous place on the upper shelf of one of the centre tables, and is a beauty and ornament to any exhibition or private room. It attracted, as it deserved, a good deal of attention.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin

The Journal says: Irvin Howe, a boy fifteen years of age, son of Mr. Rufus Howe, of West Auburn, was accidentally shot at West Auburn, Monday forenoon. The ball entered his left leg near the main artery, making a serious but not necessarily dangerous wound, and a fatal result is not anticipated. The lad stood near a companion, who was handling the gun, and told him not to point it toward him, as he was afraid of it. But a few minutes had elapsed before the charge went out of the gun, and the muzzle happened to point to young Howe's leg. It is supposed the gun was cocked and the hammer was accidentally knocked down.

The Journal says that the store of J. F. Emerton, in Auburn, was burglariously entered, Saturday night. A gun, some caps, a few cigars, and other articles of small value were taken. The gun was worth about $3 and laid by the side of several others, worth $50 apiece. The thief or thieves very considerately selected the cheap gun. They got into the store by breaking a light of glass in the basement of the building. The day previous, two or three rough-looking fellows came into the store and inquired the price of guns, paying particular attention to the gun afterwards stolen. These men are suspected.

Aroostook

The veteran soldiers and wives in the vicinity of Sherman, went on an excursion to Mattawamkeag, last week. They camped out three nights and report they had a grand time.

Cumberland

The Press says that Sunday night burglars entered the cutlery store of Charles Hehr, of Portland, by means of a rear window and stole a quantity of valuable cutlery. No clue to the burglars has yet been discovered.

Sunday, Willie A. Wormell, aged 11 years, left his father's house, in Portland, ostensibly to go to church, since which time he has not been at home. He had on a light gray suit, mixed straw hat, white shirt and blue necktie, dark gray socks and walking shoes. The boy is dark complexioned with straight black hair and dark blue eyes. The last seen of him was Sunday night when he was playing about the circus train on Commercial Street.

A correspondent to the Lewiston Journal writes from Harpswell that fish are plenty, but fishermen lose many good fishing days from want of bait, the porgie seiners having almost entirely destroyed the porgies from our waters. They were much need for bait, and the loss is deeply felt.

THE SONG OF THE SIREN

[From the N. Y. Tribune Oct 10.]

It is very gratifying to all Republicans, ... it is no doubt to President Arthur, to find the Democratic press so unanimous in ... praise of the new President, and so confident that he will give the country an equally wise and able Administration. This has quite the appearance of the beginning of an era of good feeling. Could we forget the history of the Democratic party we might credit the sincerity of their professions and look to see them coming up ... to the support of President Arthur's administration. But in the light of what we know of them we feel bound to say that we expect nothing of the kind. If it is to be the prelude to the millenium, we are confident that the latter event is at least three years off. The experience of ... Democratic friends with three Vice-Presidents elected by their opponents who succeeded to the Presidency leads them to ... quite confidently upon bagging the Presidency themselves whenever a President of the opposing party dies and the Vice-President succeeds him. They recall Tyler, Fillmore and Johnson, and argue from them that there is some fixed rule ... and history must go on repeating ... indefinitely. This it is and no change of heart toward President Arthur ... the Republican party, that calls out these professions and warm praises with which Democratic papers are just now ... It is spider and fly, that's all. The parlor is thrown wide open, and with coaxing and compliment the fly is invited in.

And they are so sure of their game that they have almost begun to discount it already. They reckon on it not alone because it is in the line of historic precedents for the Vice-President coming to the Executive chair to betray the party that elected him, but in this case the peculiar circumstances of the occasion, the relations of the President to his party, and the fact that differences already exist which might easily broaden into an open quarrel, give them additional reasons for expecting the new President to fall out with his own party and drop into their hands. Hence the ... There is something almost pathetic in their solicitude for his welfare and their anxiety for his success. They overflow with wise counsels and good advice. They are especially anxious that he should seize the opportunities now afforded him to "get even on old scores," to "go for" those with whom he has heretofore had differences of one kind and another, to raise up his personal friends and put down his personal enemies. Now is the time, they tell him, to redeem the fight of the third term lost at Chicago, to bring Mr. Conkling back to public life and "sit down on" his opponents, to put an end to the political ambition of "that man from Maine," and above all, to take revenge on John Sherman, who, as Secretary of the Treasury, removed him from the Collectorship, by ... up the records of the Treasury and showing Sherman to the world as a plunderer and a robber.

Indeed, the chief burden of their counsels is that he should lose no time in "getting even" with those with whom he has differed. That seems to them the most natural thing for a man in President Arthur's place to do. It is a sort of Democratic instinct. And they cannot conceive the possibility of his doing otherwise. Though they talk eternally in a lofty way about public office being a trust to be discharged with sole reference to the public weal, whenever it comes to a case in hand they cannot help showing that they look upon it purely as a personal possession to be devoted to personal uses to reward friends and punish enemies. If President Arthur is of their mind in this matter or can be induced to take their view of it, their hopes of profiting by his accession may not be entirely disappointed. But they do not seem, thus far at least, to have made much impression on him or any great progress toward his inveiglement. Being human, and having been so long engaged in the encounters of active political warfare, he has probably not needed to be reminded of all the opportunities offered him for rewarding friends and punishing opponents. But there is reason to believe that he takes a much higher view of his responsibilities, and that there is nothing farther from his purpose than the things which our Democratic friends urge him to, and believe that he must necessarily do. They who expect him to be President of a faction, to divide or betray his party, to prostitute his office or diminish its dignity, that the history of Vice Presidents will be repeated in him, will find themselves mistaken. No President was ever more oppressed with the gravity of his position, more conscious of its embarrassments and perils, and none, we believe, was ever more thoroughly imbued with a conscientious and patriotic purpose.

THE PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION

There is much misunderstanding in regard to the contingent relations of the President of the Senate pro tempore, with the office of President of the United States. In the present case Mr. Bayard does not become Vice-President by being chosen to preside in the Senate, and in case of the President's death or inability he would not become President during the remainder of the Presidential term. When the President of the Senate, pro tempore, or the Speaker of the House succeed to the office of President they hold it only until a special election of President and Vice President held in accordance with the following United States Statutes passed by Congress March 1792:

SECTION 146. In case of removal, death, resignation or inability of both the President and Vice-President of the United States, the President of the Senate, or, if there is none, then the Speaker of the House of Representatives, for the time being, shall act as President until the disability is removed or a President elected.

SEC. 147. Whenever the offices of President and Vice-President both become vacant, the Secretary of State shall forthwith cause a notification thereof to be made to the Executive of every State, and shall also cause the same to be published in at least one of the newspapers printed in each State.

SEC. 148. The notification shall specify that electors of a President and Vice-President of the United States shall be appointed or chosen in the several States, as follows.

First—If there shall be the space of two months yet to ensue between the date of such notification and the first Wednesday in December then next ensuing, such notification shall specify that the electors shall be appointed or chosen within thirty-four days preceding such first Wednesday in December.

Second—If there shall not be the space of two months between the date of such notification and such first Wednesday in December, and if the term for which the President and Vice-President last in office were elected will not expire on the third day of March next ensuing, the notification shall specify that the electors shall be appointed or chosen within thirty four days preceding the first Wednesday in December in the year next ensuing, but if there shall not be the space of two months between the date of such notification and the first Wednesday in December then next ensuing, and if the term for which the President and Vice-President last in office were elected will expire on the third day of March next ensuing, the notification shall not specify that electors are to be appointed or chosen.

SEC 149. Electors appointed or chosen upon the notification prescribed by the preceding section shall meet and give their votes upon the first Wednesday of December specified in the notification.

THE NEW ADMINISTRATION

DEMOCRATIC AND INDEPENDENT PREDICTIONS

[Wash Cor Boston Post, Dem]

The rumor that the new cabinet will be substantially as already given, is not discredited in official circles. That gives the state department to ex Senator Frelinghuysen, the treasury department to Judge Folger, the attorney generalship to Benj H. Brewster, interior department to ex-Senator Howe, navy department to A. H Rice, post office department to ex-Senator Sargent, and war department to Secretary Lincoln. These plans may be changed, but a leading member of the cabinet told me to-day that he would not be surprised if that cabinet were substantially correct.

Secretary Blaine does not expect to remain in the cabinet. He denies very emphatically, and gives good reasons to support his declaration, that he has ever made an effort to remain. On the contrary, his efforts have been in the other direction. When he leaves, however, he will leave with the best relations existing between himself and the president. He does not go out capriciously, or to make a sensation. He goes for reasons that when they are made public will be perfectly satisfactory to the country.

[Wash. Cor N Y Evening Post, Ind]

One thing is certain, President Arthur will heed Richelieu's "grand maxims" and will "first employ all methods to conciliate." He will try to make all Republicans Arthur men. Where he cannot conciliate he will try to crush. And no one knows better than he does the power and the limitations of power of the Executive to stamp out political heresy.

His first great battle as a politician will be with the Blaine faction. If he can seduce or paralyze this element, his Administration will open strongly. Obviously, then, he must not begin by spoiling all by making Blaine a martyr. Nothing would delight the Secretary of State better than to be kicked out of the Cabinet because forsooth, he was the special bosom friend of Garfield. There are politicians who say that this is Blaine's game and that the letter of acceptance recently published is a move in it. This may or may not be so. At any rate, it is important that the Secretary of State should leave office a good Republican, that is, reconciled to Arthur. Blaine is to-day the only Republican leader of national consequence whose defection is to be feared. He beat Grant in 1880, and he might beat Grant or Arthur in 1884. How can Blaine be decapitated without his knowing it? That is the difficult problem which Arthur has to solve.

THE ELECTION OF BAYARD

[From the New York Times.]

If the Democrats had been so minded, they could have agreed with absolute consistency to the admission of the Senators from New York and Rhode Island before proceeding to vote upon the resolution calling one of the Senators to the chair as President pro tempore. That they did not agree to this because it would deprive them of the power to elect a Democrat is obvious. To pretend that a reverence for the statute impelled them to choose the presiding officer first is to tax human credulity too far. They had determined in caucus to lay hands upon the office, which, as Mr. Edmunds forcibly put it, was a prize in the lottery of assassination, and they were delighted that they had a statute to quote in justification of their course. If there had been no partisan advantage to gain in this election, we should not have heard anything about law or precedents. The Senate would undoubtedly have organized very much as the whim of the moment might have moved a majority of the Senators, the time of the administration of the oath to the new Senators being left as a matter of no immediate importance. As it is, a Democratic Senator from Delaware stands next in the line of the Presidential succession. For this, and for the vexatious dead lock now probable the country has to thank Mr. Roscoe Conkling, late Senator from New York.

The trie lent importance given to the office of the President of the Senate pro tempore has misled many uninformed persons into assigning to him the powers and duties of Vice-President of the United States. The Senate has long since settled this proposition. The President of the Senate is not a Constitutional officer. He holds his place at the pleasure of the Senate. Mr. Bayard remains a Senator from Delaware. He has a vote in the Senate on all questions, as a Senator, and he has no other vote. It is not possible for the Senate, by placing Mr. Bayard in the chair, to destroy one half of the representation in the Senate of the State of Delaware. And, whenever a majority of the Senate shall choose to proceed to a new election, and to call another Senator to the chair in place of Mr. Bayard, they may do it. There can now be no doubt that the Republicans would depose Mr. Bayard should they ever have the power, in spite of that gentleman's suggestion that the tragical event that has made this session necessary should inspire feelings of moderation and conciliation.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The Significance of Names of Noted Men.

The subject of family and Christian names, their origin and importance, formed a favorite study of the President's father, the late Rev. William Arthur, and of the President himself. In 1856, while living in Albany county, N. Y., the former compiled a work entitled "An Etymological Dictionary of Family and Christian Names." The book was published in 1857, and it is now very difficult to obtain a copy of it. President Arthur assisted his father in the preparation of the book. It contains more than 2500 surnames and about 500 Christian names, with their derivations and import. Several pages are devoted to an essay on the origin of names. Many of the names of men who are prominent before the country at the present time appear in the book. The meaning of some of them are very significant. The name Garfield is said to be derived by Mr. Arthur from the Saxon Garwin, to prepare, German and Dutch "gar," dressed, done, ready, prepared, and "field," a place where everything is finished necessary for an army.

The name Grant is described as follows. "Of this name, Playfair remarks that it may be derived from the Saxon, Irish or French. In the Saxon, Grant signifies crooked or bowed. Thus Cambridge, the town and university in England so called, signifies a crooked bridge or rather a bridge upon the Cam river, or the crooked and winding river. The Saxons called this town Grantbridge, Cam in the British and Grant in the Saxon being of the same signification—Crooked. So Mons Grampbines, the Grampian hill, was called by Saxons Granz bend, or the crooked hill. But we cannot see how from this Saxon word the surname should be borrowed. In the old Irish grandha signifies ugly, ill-favored, grand signifies dark, swarthy, and grant and chiar signify much the same thing, or are synonymous words, and, there being a tribe of the Grants called Clan Chiaran, it is the same as Clan Grant. Thus the surname might have been taken from a progenitor that was chiar or grant, that is to say,

A SWARTHY OR GRAY-HEADED MAN.

And though, in time, Grant became the common and prevailing surname, yet some always retain the other name Chiaran, and are called Clan Chiaran.

In the French, Grant signifies great, brave, valorous, and from thence many are inclined to think that the surname Grant is taken from grand, which, in the Irish, is sounded short, and thereby the letter d at the end of the word is changed into t, and thus grand into Grant. The surname, it seems, was thus understood in England about 560 years ago, for Richard Grant was made archbishop of Canterbury in the year 1229, and is, in Mr. Anderson's genealogical tables, as well as by others, expressly called Richard Grant, but the English historians of that time, writing in Latin, call him Richardus Magnus, which plainly shows they took Grant to be the same with the French Grant and the Latin Magnus, to which, let us add, in the old writs, the article the is put before the surname Grant.

The name of James G Blaine is said in Mr. Arthur's work to come from the town of Blain in Brettagne, France. "Blaen in the Welch," says the author, "signifies the summit or top; the same as pen brig and bar, the highest part of the mountain, the end or top of an object, the inland extremity of a glen, a leader or chief."

The name Conkling is said to be derived "from con bold, wise, knowing, and klein—little or son; that is the son of Con. Konkelen in Dutch signifies to plot, intrigue, conspire. Ceaugleann Gaelic, the head of the valley."

Senator Don Cameron will probably take exception to the signification of his name, "crooked or crooked nosed," from the Gaelic cam crooked, and sron—nose.

The patronymic of Senator John Sherman, according to Mr. Arthur, the President's father, comes from "a shearman, one who used to shear cloth. Villain, thy father was a plasterer, and thy self a shearman."

Senator John P. Jones' name is from the Hebrew and signifies gracious.

Marshall Jewell's name is said to be "Joy, mirth, precious, a jewel, a precious stone, a name expressive of fondness."

BENJAMIN F. BUTLER GETS HIS NAME

from the old counts of Briony in Normandy, a descendant of whom Hervius Fitz Walter accompanied the conqueror into England. "His son Theobold," says Mr. Arthur, "went with Henry II. into Ireland where, having assisted in the reduction of the kingdom, he was rewarded with large possessions there, and made it the place of his residence. The King afterward conferred on him the office of chief butler of Ireland, whence his descendants, the earls of Ormond and others, took the surname of De Botiler, or Butler."

William E. Chandler's name is "a name of trade, a maker and seller of various wares, originally of candles."

Bliss is "a very happy name. Blyss, in the Welsh, signifies desiring, longing."

The baptismal and family names of President Arthur are thus spoken of in the work of his father, "Arthur (British), a strong man, from ar, Latin, vir, a man, and thor, strong. In the Gaelic, air is the same as fear, a man, and the ancient Scythians called a man aior. Thor was the Jupiter of the Teutonic races, their god of thunder. In Welsh, arth is a bear, an emblem of strength and courage, and ur a noun termination a man. Arthur, a bear man, a hero, a man of strength, the name of a British prince. Chester, local from the city of Chester, the capital of Cheshire, England, founded by the Romans. The name is derived from the Latin castrum, Saxon ceaster, a fortified place, a city, a castle or camp. It being a Roman station where the 20th legion was quartered. The Roman stations in England were generally so called, being sometimes varied in dialect to chester, chaster or caster, the termination of an English town, as Colchester, a camp on the river Coln, Doncaster, on the Don, Lancaster, on the Lon or Lune, etc."

"Alan, or Allan, derived, according to Julius Scaliger, from Sclavonic aeland, a wolf dog, a hound, and Chaucer uses aland in the same sense. Bailey derives it as the same from the British. Camden thinks it a corruption of aelianus, which signifies sun bright. From the same we have Allen, Allin and Alleyne. In the Gaelic alluinn signifies exceedingly fair, handsome, elegant, lovely, Irish allun, fair, beautiful."

Among the family names of the

and their derivations which appear in the treatise of the President and his father, the following is a list.

The name of Senator Mahone of Virginia, is Celtic or Gaelic, and means a bear.

That of Senator Logan, of Illinois is also Gaelic, an "inclosed plain or low lying place. If the residence of a Briton was on a plain it was called Llan, from lugen or logen, if on an eminence, it was termed dun."

Senator Anthony's name is from the Greek word signifying flower. "flourishing, beautiful and graceful."

That of Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is "from mor, the sea, and gan, born—the same as Pelagius—born on the sea, from the Greek, the sea, mor the sea, and gan by or near the sea, a locality."

That of Senator Pugh, of Alabama, is "a contraction of Ap Hugh, the son of Hugh, the 'h' having the Welsh sound of 'p.'"

That of Senator Walker, of Arkansas, is thus described: "In the north of England and south of Scotland a pulling mill is still called a walking mill. This name may signify either a puller or an officer whose duty consisted in walking or inspecting a certain space of forest ground."

The name borne by Senator-elect Miller, of New York, and Miller, of California, means "one who attends a grist mill, muillear (Gaelic), having large lip, maldir (Gaelic), a merchant, maillor (Gaelic), from maille, armor, and fear, a man—a man in armor, having a coat of mail, a soldier."

That of Senator Hawley, of Connecticut, is "from haw, a hedge, Saxon haeg, a small piece of ground near a house, a close, a place where hawthorne grows, and ley, a field or meadow."

"That of Senator Hampton, of South Carolina, means "the town on the hill."

That of Senator Call of Florida, is "pendant, discerning, cunning, trickish. Caill and cull (Gaelic) are the same."

That of Senator Sewall, of New Jersey, is thus defined: "Probably from sea and wall, a structure of stone or other materials intended for a defence or security against the sea. This name, though seemingly local, sail, in the Gaelic, is a willow, snall, small, inconsiderable. Sir, south, and wold, wild, well, an uncultivated place, a wood, a plain, a lawn, hills without wood, Sewald, Sowall, Sowell."

MAY HAVE VARIOUS SIGNIFICATIONS:

That of Senator Brown, of Georgia, is "a name derived from complexion, color of hair or garments, consequently a very common name."

That of Senator Dawes, of Massachusetts, is from "D'Awes, from the river, fountain or water."

That of Senator Harrison, of Indiana is "the son of Henry," which Verstegan derives from ecurick, ever rich, others from herrick, rich lord or master, Camden from the Latin honorious, honorable. Killan writes it Heyurick—Heymrick, i. e., rich at home."

That of Senator Beck, of Kentucky, is Anglo-Saxon, "from becc, a book."

That of Senator Kellogg, of Louisiana, is "from chelloc or kuillgg (Cornish British), a cock, coil, each, in Gaelic and coillog in Welsh, the c having the sound of k."

That of Senator Williams, of Kentucky, "from the Belgiac, guild helem, harnessed with a gilded helm; or as others say, from Willhelm, the shield or defence of many."

That of Senator Frye, of Maine, is from the Cornish British, "a hill, a town or home on the most prominent part of a hill or eminence. German, frei, free, Dutch, vry or fry, free."

The name of Senator Hale, of Maine, is said to be from the Welsh, "a moar, also hayle, a salt water river."

That of Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, is "white, hoar, grey."

That of Senator George, of Mississippi, is from the Greek, "a husbandman, a farmer."

That of Senator McPherson, of New Jersey, "The son of Pherson. Pherson is the son of pfarrer, German, a parson, and that from pfarre, a parish, a benefice or living. Pfarre is derived from the Gaelic faire, a watcher, to watch an overseer's episcopus."

That of Senator Saulsbury, of Delaware, is "the town of health, the dry town. The old town of Saulsbury anciently stood upon a hill where but it is now situated in a valley, and a little brook runs through the street. The name is sometimes written Salusbury, that is, the hill or town."

That of Senator Van Wyck, of Nebraska, is from Wyck, a town on the river Lech in Holland.

That of Senator Rollins, of New Hampshire, is from the Saxon, and means "counsel for the land."

That of Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, is from the Saxon, "happy place."

That of Senator Ransom, of North Carolina, is "the price paid for redemption from captivity or punishment."

That of Senator Pendleton, of Ohio, is "the summit of a hill, Gaelic, from pendle, the summit, and dun, a hill. Pen-dal ton, the town at the head of the valley."

That of Senator Mitchell, of Pennsylvania, is a corruption of Michael, or from the Saxon, murchell, big."

That of Senator Morrill, of Vermont, means having yellow hair.

That of Senator Blair of New Hampshire is from the Celtic. Rev. Mr. Arthur speaks of the name as follows: "From blair or blur, which originally signified a cleared plain, but, from the Celts generally choosing such plains for their fields of battle, blair came to signify battle. There is a small village called the Blair near Lochard, about two miles from Lochleven in Fifeshire, Scotland. It signifies the spot where a battle was fought, locus pugnae. Here, it is supposed an engagement took place between the Romans and the Caledonians, A. D. 83."

OHIO.

A ROUSING REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

GOV. FOSTER ESTIMATES HIS MAJORITY AT ABOUT 20,000.

Both Branches of the Legislature Republican.

Indications of Larger Majorities

IN THIS BODY THAN LAST YEAR.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 12. The Republicans claim Foster elected by from 10,000 to 15,000 in the State and a majority in the House of Representatives. The Democrats concede Foster 10,000 majority, and call the Assembly doubtful. It will depend entirely on the result in Hamilton county. Never in the history of elections were tickets scattered on both sides as much as yesterday in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 12. Twenty-five county and nineteen city precincts of Hamilton county give Foster 8000 majority. On the local ticket the Democrats probably elect the Treasurer, Probate Judge and three of the five Common Pleas Judges. For the Senate and House the race looks even. The Republicans seem to have five members of the County Board of Control and one County Commissioner.

CINCINNATI, Oct 12. Fifty-five precincts of Hamilton county have been heard from and 50 are unreported. Foster's majority thus far is 1500. The Republicans elect nine out of ten candidates on the legislative ticket and lose one, Robert Harlan, a colored man, in whose stead the Democrats elect Gen. A. F. Deveraux. The Republicans elect two State Senators and lose one. The Republicans elect Conner and Maxwell, Common Pleas Judges, and they certainly lose Cox and Crossly, while Belchwalter is doubtful. The great prevalence of scratching tickets causes unprecedented delay.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 12. The official returns from six precincts of Hamilton county, with forty-five precincts to hear from, show nine out of ten Republicans elected to the House of Representatives and two Republicans out of three elected to the State Senate.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 12. Chairman Nash, of the State Republican Committee, says the Republicans have 58 members of the House and 16 of the Senate, without Hamilton County and two Senators in doubt. Seventeen is a majority in the Senate. The Republicans have the House without doubt.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 12. The returns since noon have been very meagre and very little has been learned of the result. Gov. Foster believes his majority will reach 20,000. It is believed Jennison Hall, Republican, is elected Senator from Miami Darke District which gave the Republicans a majority in the Senate.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12. Full returns show Foster's majority in Cuyahoga County to be 4393.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 12. Returns from 95 of the 100 precincts in Hamilton county, give Foster 28,184; Bookwalter 25,019; Foster's majority 3,175. The rest of the State ticket except Richards, on the Republican side, ran from one to seven hundred ahead of Foster. Johnson for Lieutenant Governor runs 800 ahead of Bookwalter. The Republicans elect Senators Dexter, Ballauf and Yeatman, the latter by a majority of 800. All the Republican Representatives are elected except Robert Harlan (colored) who is beaten by Gen. A. F. Devereaux by about 400. The Democrats elect Avery and Johnson, Judges, and the Republicans elect Conner, Maxwell and Bachwalter. Watson, Democrat, for Probate Judge has a majority of 4,000; Hill, Republican County Commissioner is elected by 4,000 majority. The Republicans elect five members of the Board of Control by majorities ranging from three to four thousand; also elect Directors of the County Infirmary and three Justices of the Peace. Democrats elect one Justice of the Peace, T. A. Johnson. The five precincts to hear from gave 250 Republican majority in '79. This should be added to figures here given.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 12. Returns to-night indicate the election of 20 Republican and 13 Democratic Senators. Two districts included in the above are still in doubt, one being claimed by the Republicans and the other conceded to the Democrats. It is thought the Republicans will have from 30 to 35 majority in the House. Should the official figures verify the above the Republicans will have larger majorities in both branches of the General Assembly than they had in the last body.

IOWA.

Sherman's Majority from 50,000 to 55,000.

A LARGE MAJORITY OF THE LEGISLATIVE VOTE.

DES MOINES, Oct. 12. The State Committee estimates that the Republican majority over the Democrats will be 50,000 and over all parties 33,000.

Des Moines gives Sherman, 1954; Kinne, 903; Clark, 203.

In Polk County the Republican majority is about 1,000. Their whole county ticket is elected.

The Republican State Committee and State Register have reports from portions of 38 counties, some nearly in full. These returns give Sherman (Republican) for Governor, 5870 majority over Kinne, (Democrat). Last year the same counties gave Garfield 8581 majority. The same relative vote all over the State will give Sherman a majority of between 50,000 and 55,000 over the Democrats and 35,000 over all.

The reports indicate a majority of nine in the Legislature.

KEOKUK, Oct. 12. Enough is known to assure the election of nearly the entire Republican County ticket.

Lee County has usually given from 300 to 600 Democratic majority.

BURLINGTON, Oct. 12. The returns show that the Republicans have carried this county for the State ticket by a small majority. The Democrats elect the Legislative ticket and perhaps a part of the County ticket.

DES MOINES, Oct. 12. Additional returns received to-day by the State Register, gives partial reports from 39 counties. It estimates the Republican State majority over the Democrats at 55,000, and over Democrats and Greenbackers both, 33,000. Estimates the Republican majority in the Legislature at 70. The Democrats do not concede all these figures, but do not discount them radically. The severe storm which prevailed all over Iowa yesterday afternoon and last night so disarranged the telegraph service that the election news is the most meagre returned in Iowa at any election for ten years.

DES MOINES, Oct. 12. The State Register has full returns from 63 of the 99 counties of the State which gives Sherman, Republican, for Governor over Democratic candidate a net majority of 34,500. Partial returns from remaining counties indicate a total majority of between 48,000 and 50,000. The Democrats concede 40,000. The Register's returns on the Legislature give the Republicans 44 of 50 Senators and 78 of 100 Representatives. The Greenback vote has fallen off 50 per cent since last year.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Extra Session of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. After the reading of the journal Mr. Kellogg offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of State for all papers relating to the seizing of one Rebello, an Italian, in New Orleans, in June, and all papers relating to the subsequent extradition of the said, Rebello. Laid over.

Mr. Edmunds called up his resolution continuing during the present session the old standing committees.

Mr. Garland said he hoped the resolution would not be pressed until some communication has been received from the President. For the purposes of this session only such committees should be appointed as there was work for.

Mr. Edmunds stated it was the invariable practice to bring in a similar resolution for the purpose of disposing of the Executive business, and he hoped it would be disposed of by Saturday or Monday.

A message was received from the President transmitting a number of nominations.

The Senate went into Executive Session and when the door was reopened Mr. Anthony presented a joint resolution on the death of the late Ambrose E. Burnside, and it was laid on the table.

The Senate at 12.40 adjourned.

The Executive Session lasted but a few minutes. No business was transacted other than to lay the nominations received from the President upon the table to await reference to the appropriate committee when they are organized.

Republican Caucus.

Republican Senators met in caucus soon after the adjournment of the Senate to-day. A proposition to select Senator David Davis as a candidate to displace Mr. Bayard as President pro tem. was at once taken up and considered. Quite a long discussion ensued and some opposition to it was at first manifested, but it was finally agreed to by a decided majority. A resolution proposing the election for a successor to Mr. Bayard will probably be introduced to-morrow, and then under the rule a single objection, which will undoubtedly be forthcoming from the Democrats, will postpone its consideration for one day, so there is not likely to be a contest until Friday.

Democratic Caucus.

The Democratic caucus remained in session about an hour this afternoon after the Senate adjourned, discussing Mr. Edmund's resolution on the appointment of standing committees. Senator Garland was directed to report a resolution providing for the appointment of certain specified committees, which the nominations of the President show to be necessary. The list of committees to be presented embraces about ten, including Postoffices, Indian Affairs, Commerce and others to which the nominations of the President in natural order of business would have to be referred.

The President and Cabinet.

The President has spent the day quietly at Senator Jones' residence. At 11 o'clock Secretary Kirkwood and Assistant Secretary Bell, accompanied by the head of bureaus, and Assistant Attorney-General McCommon, of the Interior Department called to pay their respects. Secretaries Blaine and Windom and Postmaster-General James conferred with the President early this afternoon on the subject of certain minor appointments, which need to be made, and a number of Senators called during the day. There is much speculation to-night with regard to the Cabinet appointments and all sort of rumors are current. The name of Judge Folger and ex-Gov. Morgan are most prominently mentioned in connection with Secretaryship of the Treasury. There appears to be a deepening impression that with the exception of the change in the Treasury Department and Department of Justice, the present Executive officers will continue in their respective places until December.

Guiteau's Trial.

Geo. Scoville, brother-in-law and counsel of Guiteau, this morning stated he had not received any answer from General Butler as to whether he would act as counsel for the defence; that the statement published as to Mr. Merick's expressing his willingness to argue the question of jurisdiction, if raised, is correct; that he has been advised by distinguished lawyers all over the country, including several judges, to raise that very question and make every point that can properly be made on behalf of his client; that such is also the express instructions of Guiteau, and that he, Scoville, has no apprehension of personal violence being offered to the prisoner while going to or from the court. He stated that the District Judges also expressed their desire that all proper questions in the case shall be raised and fully argued.

Nominations by the President.

The President sent the following nominations to the Senate to-day: Wm. W. Dudley, of Indiana, for Commissioner of Pensions; Otis P. Clarke, of Rhode Island, for first Deputy Commissioner of Pensions; C. B. Walker, of Indiana, for Deputy Commissioner of Pensions; Noah C. McFarland, of Kansas, for Commissioner General of the Land Office.

DESPERATE BURGLARS.

THEY CAPTURE $10,000

By Resorting to Torture

CHICAGO, Oct. 12. The house of Allen Fairbanks, at Wheaton, Dupage county, was entered at 1.30 this morning by five masked burglars, who, after tying and gagging himself, wife, and two hired girls, robbed him of $10,000 in government bonds and a large quantity of silver. The thieves resorted to torture in order to force the victims to disclose the whereabouts of the money.

IRELAND.

Proposed Fenian Attack.

AGRARIAN OUTRAGES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. The Evening Telegram's Dublin correspondent telegraphs as follows: I am informed that the Fenian element in Cork and leagues are arranging to attack one of the military columns on eviction duty at the first favorable opportunity. It is intended to give the soldiers three or four volleys from an ambuscade some winter evening when the party is returning home and then throw away their arms and scatter. The amount which the league leaders expect O'Connor, now on his way to America, to collect is 20,000 pounds.

DUBLIN, Oct. 12. A Waterford correspondent telegraphs that the Marquis of Waterford, on resigning the mastership of Curraghmore hounds, said he did so because the League had been organized to prevent hunting throughout Ireland. When he was out hunting last Thursday chapel bells were rung, horns were blown and a large multitude of people gathered and stoned him and his friends. They pelted the dogs, stabbed several of them with pitch forks and hooted and yelled till they obliged the party to go home. Between 6000 and 7000 pounds will be lost to the neighborhood by breaking up the pack.

Refinement of cruelty was reached at Kanturk, where a man named Sullivan was arrested for putting needles into the potatoes which he was giving to the cattle of a boycotted farmer. From Tipperary a case is reported where 100 papers of needles were sprinkled in the hay fed to cattle. The police return of agrarian outrages for September shows that there has been one murder in Clare, one manslaughter in Cork, four cases of attempted murder, fifteen cases of aggravated assault, two of which endangered life, two of cutting and maiming persons, twenty-four incendiary cases, two of burglary and robbery, seven of taking and holding forcible possession, eleven of cutting, killing and maiming cattle, one of robbery of arms, five of riots and affray and two of administering unlawful oaths.

There were 233 cases of intimidation, 189 by threatening letters and 44 miscellaneous, one case of attacking a house was reported, forty-eight of injury of property, seven of firing into dwellings, and one of obstruction of railway traffic. Total number of offences 357. Cork heads the list with 53, Roscommon and Clare each 23; Kerry 27; Galway 23; Leitrim 21; Mayo 20; Limerick 19; Monoghan, Kilkenny and West Meath 15 each.

ANOTHER FLOOD.

THE WISCONSIN RIVER OVERFLOWING ITS BANKS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12. The Wisconsin river has been rising at a rapid rate the past four hours. At Warsaw the water covers the railroad track to a depth of four or five feet.

At Steven's Point the dikes have been ordered open and if the rain does not cease falling soon, terrible results are anticipated from the flood. Considerable damage has already been done. The Black River has risen eight feet in the past 24 hours, and is flooding the country about.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS.

THE STATE CONVENTION.

ALBANY, Oct. 12. The Tammany delegation will leave for New York at three o'clock.

The Convention.

Mr. Hill called the convention to order at 10.25. Mr. Peckham from the Committee on Credentials reported the contests which had been considered and the decision of the committee. When the decision in favor of the New York county Democratic organization was announced there was some cheering. There was no opposition and the report was unanimously carried. The Committee on Permanent organization reported Erastus Brooks for permanent chairman. (Applause.) The report was adopted without dissent.

Mr. Brooks on taking the chair, made a speech in which he arraigned the Republican party for its mismanagement of National and State affairs. At the conclusion of his address the Committee on Resolutions presented a declaration of principles which was unanimously adopted.

Wm. Purcell, of Rochester, was unanimously nominated for Secretary of State on the first ballot. Geo. H. Lapham, of Yates, was nominated for Comptroller by acclamation. Roswell A. Parmenter, of Troy, was nominated on the first ballot for Attorney General. Robert A. Maxwell, of Geneva, was nominated for State Treasurer on the first ballot.

MISSOURI.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12. L. Rosenfeld, a traveller for a St. Louis jewelry house, boarded a freight train at Mexico, Mo., last night for Centralia, not wishing to wait for the passenger train. At Centralia his trunk containing $6,000 worth of jewelry was missing and it was discovered that it had been thrown off on the way and robbed of $1000 to $2000 worth of the finest goods. No clue to the thieves.

Milch Cows and Springers—Good cows sell quick, but common grades are not in so good demand.

RELIC OF THE HAMPDEN WAR. John A. McKusick, a city teamster, a day or two since plowed up a 12-pound shot on the Hampden road. It was considerably eaten with rust and is doubtless one of the missiles that the British man-of-war, which sailed up this river in 1812, sent among the astonished Yankees as a token of their affection. The shot is to be presented to the Grand Army Post of this city at its meeting to-night. This memento of the Hampden war has been left at our office.

"One price" is the rule at the above establishment. See the advertisement.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT. Mr. David Phillips, while superintending the laying of rails at Crossuntick Curve, on the E. & N. A. Railway, east of Kingman, last Monday, met with a painful accident, a thirty-foot steel rail weighing 580 pounds falling upon the three smaller toes of his right foot, crushing them badly. The wounded members were not dressed until he arrived in this city Tuesday evening. Mr. Phillips, who is full of nerve and pluck, was on the street yesterday and signified his intention of returning to his work this morning. Since the 1st of September, Mr. Phillips has laid 1523 curved steel rails between Mattawamkeag and Crossuntick.

MALICIOUS MISCHIEF. A few days ago some of the boys who are always idling about the tracks of the E. & N. A. Railway, prompted by a spirit of malicious mischief, unshackled a car that stood upon a siding where the grade is descending. The car, which soon attained a considerable degree of velocity, ran into a bunting post and was seriously damaged by the collision. These boys that loiter about the tracks of this road have been a source of constant annoyance to the officials and to the employes, and we learn that the names of the guilty parties having been ascertained it is proposed to make an example of them.

AN ENEMY TO SPRUCE TREES. An exchange says that Maine's lumbermen—and therefore a large part of the rest of her citizens—are much disturbed by the destructive insects which are killing the spruce trees, not only in this State, but in the adjacent British provinces. The pine has lost its pre-eminence, and the spruce was getting in a position to be the representative tree, but the urocerus albicornus, if the thing has been correctly identified, is killing off the spruce faster than the lumbermen could have done it and greatly to their detriment. The white horned urocerus, for that is what his name means, is about an inch long, and with wings which spread to two inches. They are as likely to destroy the pines, into which they bore, as the spruces, so far as the entomologists know. These insects are very prolific, and not at all uncommon. In England it has been often noticed and recorded, but there it was injurious only to ornamental trees, not to those on which so much depends in a business way, and in whose preservation so many people are interested, as the spruce forests of the northeast. The prospect seems to be that things will go from bad to worse. Unless some smaller insect comes to the front and destroys the eggs of the urocerus, it is hard to see what is going to save our spruce trees.

THE ABDUCTION CASE.

Arrest of Mary E. Hill—A Hearing Before Recorder Perkins.

Deputy Sheriff Patten returned from Dover yesterday forenoon, bringing with him Mary Ellen Hill, the girl charged with the abduction of the Perkins child. The officer arrested the girl at her mother's house in Dover. A hearing was had before Recorder Perkins in the afternoon. She was bound over in $500 to the next term of Court, and taken to jail. She plead guilty to the charge of abduction and said she took the child at the instigation of a young man who lives in Oldtown. She admitted that she had done wrong, but said she never stopped to think. The girl is but fifteen years of age, slim and delicate looking, and is apparently weak-minded. In her statement she said that the young man before mentioned advised her to do as she has done, promising to meet her in Dexter, where he would sell the team and with the proceeds they would go to Boston, and there live together as man and wife. From what she says it is evident that the young man had painted a fanciful picture for her to look upon; they were to live in elegant style, and the child was to be claimed as their own and sent to school. The young man, whose name for the present we withhold, is but eighteen years of age, and is said to obtain his living by unlawful means. The parents of the girl are said to be respectable and nice sort of people, but as before stated the girl's mind is unbalanced. Her mother states that she has always acted queerly, and when quite young would induce children to go into the woods with her, where she would be gone all day. Altogether it is a strange case.

Of Interest to Ship Masters.

A recent issue of a Philadelphia paper has the following account of a case of interest to ship owners and ship captains:

Justice Bradley, of the Supreme Court of the United States, appeared yesterday in the United States Circuit Court, in this city, as judge, and stated that after a pending case had been disposed of he would take his seat on the bench, and that Judge Butler, who had been sitting with Judge McKennan would attend to business in the District Court.

The case of the United States vs. Thomas D. French, master of the schooner Dora M. French, of Bangor, a matter which involves considerable importance to sea captains, was then placed on trial. The schooner has made a trip from Bangor, Maine, to the Barbadoes, and thence to Philadelphia, where the captain paid and discharged his crew. The Government sought to recover a penalty of $50 from the defendant under a revised Statute of the United States which the District Attorney claimed inflicted that fine upon captains for discharging or paying their men otherwise than in the presence of a United States Commissioner. The jury returned a verdict for the defendant, the judges having decided that the statute did not cover the case. A similar verdict was rendered in favor of Captain J. L. Smith, against whom the Government had also sought to recover the penalty. By the request of J. Warren Coulston and Henry R. Edmunds, who represented the defendants, Justice Bradley will write and file an opinion in order that commercial circles may know what the law in this district is construed to be.

THE LAW OF KINDNESS

Is universal: it affects all the human family, all animals, and may be even found in patent medicines. Some are drastic, and the patient is obliged to suffer pains worse than the disease; but in cases of obstinate constipation, dyspepsia, there is no remedy so kind, so gentle in its effects, and yet so satisfactory, as BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents.

Fellows' Hypophosphites.

IS A REALY RELIABLE REMEDY FOR WASTING AND NERVOUS DISEASES.

After numerous experiments Mr. Fellows has succeeded in producing it a combination of Hypophosphites which has the unparalleled power of assimilating with the blood, and thereby imparting strength to the entire system. It is the only remedy that can be relied upon to create healthy blood in Consumption, Scrofula, Chronic Diarrhœa, Fever and Ague, Malarial, Neuralgic, Nervous Diseases, Wasting of the Muscles, Impoverished Blood, Mercurial Affections, Chronic Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Female Complaints, Paralysis, Epilepsy, Spinal Affections, Loss of Vital Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Melancholy, Mental Depression.

MALARIA.

Persons living in Malarious districts are peculiarly liable to attacks of fever and ague, and if not thoroughly eradicated from the system, will cause a return of the disease at intervals during the year. Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, its effects are lasting; for the ague can never return to those who have taken it. Being a tonic, it corrects the secretions, purifies the blood, and imparts a healthy action to the whole system. Being a nerve tonic in its action, it gives strength and healthy action to the nervous system, and its effects are speedily apparent. Within twenty four hours, after its use, the patient will perceive an entire change.

Malarious districts are those ...
